

Impact of Coronavirus on Axon' cable, its subsidiaries and customers.

Updated on 03/02/20

Dear Customers,

As you are certainly aware, Axon' Cable has one of its production subsidiaries located in China.

Our subsidiary, like many Chinese companies, is currently closed for the Chinese New Year festivities.

The local government has asked companies to extend their closure in our region until February 10, 2020. This will have the immediate consequence of not being able to deliver any goods manufactured in this factory during this extended closure period.

We have already put in place all appropriate measures to ensure a re-opening in the best possible conditions.

For some of our own manufacture we also source components locally in China, therefore we have also launched an impact analysis of Coronavirus on our own purchases.

Our sales team has a pro-active approach and will individually contact each of our customers whose orders would be affected by this situation. If you are not contacted it is because, to the best of our knowledge, your orders will not be impacted.

Best regards,

Christelle Olivie
